

Earth Activist Training

permaculture, activism, and magic

with Starhawk, Penny Livingston-Stark, and Erik Ohlsen

January 4-18, 2004 in coastal Sonoma County, California

Unique, intensive, visionary, hands-dirty learning to create the world you want to live in!

EAT blends a full permaculture certification class with earth-based spirituality and practical political know-how. Learn how to transform a piece of land, a community, political structures, economic systems, and yourself:

- Nature awareness; humans' role in nature
- Pattern thinking in design, strategy, and movement building
- Diversity in ecosystems and in our movement
- Solutions! alternative energy, organic farming, natural building, restoration...
- How to think like a watershed: collect, conserve, clean, and reuse water
- Soil and forest ecology; ecology as economics—economics as ecology
- Movement building, strategy, and direct action principles and practices
- Consensus process, community building, facilitation, and conflict resolution
- Breaking the spell of fear, rage, grief, and frustration
- How to stay grounded and centered in tough situations
- Ways to create ritual and weave magic into action
- How to renew personal energy, avoid burnout, and find hope for our world

Money Sliding scale for the two-week residential training is $1100 to $1600. Work-trade, scholarships, loans, and other options detailed on web site—including ideas to "create your own scholarship."

Donate Don't have time to save the world? Help someone who does! Please consider a contribution to our scholarship fund, or an in-kind donation. All donations can be tax-deductible. See web site, or contact us for details.

Deadlines Applications for work-trade and scholarships due by November 1, 2003. Regular registration ends December 1. We have a 40-person minimum, so register early to ensure class. If we have space, late registration is possible.

To learn more Visit www.earthactivisttraining.org for full details and a downloadable registration form. To have form mailed to you, send SASE to address below.
